INSTRUCTOR:

Margueritte Hickman

Margueritte Hickman first experienced fire with the Oregon Department of Forestry during the 1987 wildfire season which sparked a career passion of safety in her community.

After 10 years with the Oregon Department of Forestry, she pursued her interest with structural departments first as a volunteer firefighter and then in career fire prevention positions. During the last 13 years of her career as the Division Chief of Fire & Life Safety/Fire Marshal in a small city in Oregon, she served the community through inspections in both new construction and existing buildings, plan reviews, fire investigations and public relations.

She is continuing her passion for teaching and mentoring through Sage Fire Solutions, LLC and the local community college. In her non-working life, she is a pilot, camper, hiker and traveler with her husband Don. Photography, scrapbooking and card making find a few moments of her time as well.
